We need only recall how ecosystems interact in dispersing carbon dioxide, purifying water, controlling illnesses and epidemics, forming soil, breaking down waste, and many other ways which we overlook or simply ignore. Once they become conscious of this, many people realize that we live and act on the basis of a reality which has previously been given to us, which precedes our existence and our abilities. So, when we speak of “sustainable use”, consideration must always be given to each ecosystem’s regenerative ability in its different areas and aspects” writes Pope Francis in Laudato Si’ paragraph 140.

United Nations SDG #12 states “Ensure sustainable consumption and production patterns.

There are many aspects of sustainability. One is to buy local and organic as often as possible. Do you?
